The answer is: as perfect as you would expect from MEDICAL. And here is our recipe. First of all take the design. It is well balanced, timeless and fit for purpose. Then add high quality materials. The result is a long-term investment that will definitely retain its value. Your patient will welcome the comfortable upholstery, while the therapist will appreciate the ergonomic working position with free access from all sides.

The technical interior offers all you need to enjoy the treatment with a chair of the PROMAT series. Up to 4 actuators ensure that the chair can easily be moved to the optimum position. With its multifunctional armrests, headrest and leg rests, this chair can be adjusted perfectly to meet your customer's individual needs. When developing this chair, we focused on making it functional and easy to service. Sophisticated technology helped us achieve this ambitious goal – and both you and your customers will appreciate the result. Intelligent technology for quality and comfort

Times have changed. And so has the concept of a comfortable treatment chair. MEDICAL has created a product whose design and technology meet all expectations. It features powerful low-voltage actuators for reliable adjustment, water protection in line with [[IPX4]], well approved remote control units with clear layout and sturdy ball guided telescopic height adjustment. The upholstery and coverings may be cleaned with standard cleaning agents and disinfectants. The automatically adjusting armrests make your patients feel comfortably secure in whatever position. Decide for yourself what a treatment chair of the PROMAT SX series can offer you. Intelligent accessories, useful extras

The PROMAT series offers a useful range of intelligent accessories like heating, multimedia equipment, ground lighting and actuators with memory option. Doctor's stools and side tables are also available. A multifunctional headrest with breathing hole has been specifically developed for face treatment and for treatment when the patient is lying face down. The style of the extras and accessories perfectly matches the patient chairs of the PROMAT series. Create your own PROMAT treatment unit by choosing those individual components best suited to your needs. Folder PROMAT Series
